Washington, November 18.—War
would have broken out in Europe three or four times since the signing of the armistice had it not been for the French army, Premier Briand declared today in conversation with American newspaper correspondents."The French premier was discussing his forthcoming speech Monday before
the third plenary session of the arms conference, which, he said, would not be an oration but rather an explanation.""I shall ask the American people,"
said he, "to place themselves in the position of the French people for three-quarters of an hour and survey
the European situation as we see it
and feel it."Must Be Secure.
"France does not want a large army
any more than you do. We wish it were possible to reduce it below the minimum that we now have in mind,
but we must, as we are alone, secure ourselves. France is not asking for any guarantees, she is not asking for anything. If it were possible for Great Britain, the United States and Italy to say 'if you are attacked we will be with you,' then it would be possible for us to disarm. But if you simply say 'do not be afraid,' tranquillize yourselves; no one is going to attack you; that is not sufficient."There is the Russian army of one million and a half. You may say 'why do you mention that? Russia is not attacking you.' Poland is the only barrier. If France had not had a strong army last year the barrier
would have fallen. The soviet troops would have been in Germany. There would have been anarchy in central Europe. No; we must have an army to secure ourselves and maintain order."M. Briand turned to other subjects.
"We cannot look upon the submarine question in the same way as Mr.
Balfour," he continued. "France must defend herself on three seas and we have possessions remote from our country. Mr. Balfour said nothing respecting maintaining communications that would not apply to us.
France abandoned her construction program of 1912 when the war came on, and nearly all of our light vessels were destroyed during the war. They have not been replaced. The French navy of today cannot be taken as a proportional standard."The French prime minister did not go further on the submarine question
although he was pressed with questions. He replied that as the naval experts were in process of determining limitations he must wait until they had arrived at conclusions."I shall be sorry to leave at an interesting moment in the conference,"

Br'er Fox Finds
Way to FreedomSheriff Smith Is Out $7.50

Alpharetta, Ga., November 18.— (Special).—Roaming the hills and glens of Milton county, scenting the sweet air of freedom, now and then,
risking liberty to investigate the noise
of cackling chickens or too garrulous
geese, is a furry fox, escaped fugitive and scoundrel of man's law.At his home here is the county jailer, Sheriff "Pack" Smith, who took Mr. Fox into custody on a warrant. He recalls tales of smart Br'er Fox that had looked out at him from schoolboy pages. Behind are a collar and chain, that the sheriff had attached to his captive as a double precaution. There are fresh tracks leading away from a small opening in the prison wall.
And Sheriff Smith gazes in the general direction of wooded hillslopes in the blue distance and betrays deep chagrin.The fox episode is declared to be without a counterpart in Georgia or anywhere else.Grabbed With Warrant.
He is believed to be the only fox
in the world ever to have been nabbed with a warrant in the hands of the law and impounded behind the steel walls of a civil jail.Alias Mr. Reynard, sharp of expression, dressed in flashy sport gray,
Mr. Fox was this week made the common prisoner of Sheriff Smith. The sheriff dragged him to a cell and thrust him in, taking care at the same time to further secure his captive with collar and chain. He banged the cage door shut.Then Mr. Reynard summoned to his aid all the cunning inbred in the fox family. He cunked silently in the night. When the sheriff awoke prison and early and entered the bright
next morning to salute his charge with "Good morning, Br'er Fox," as he had read in childhood books, his greeting went something like this:
"Good morning—the devil, he's gone!"Here are the events leading up to the capture of Mr. Fox: Pink Nesbit,
a citizen near here, owned a gray
fox, a gift of a friend in another state. He had named it so that it would run about unleashed without leaving the premises.Meets With Hunters.
But one day the yearning for unlimited freedom got the better of Mr.
Fox and he set out in his quest. Miles away he ran afoul of a group of hunters with dogs of keen scent. They chased Mr. Fox until his tongue wagged out and he sought safety by climbing a tree. They hauled him down. Mr. Nesbit heard that a fox had been caught. He went to the scene of the hunt, identified the fox and claimed it as his property.The hunters demurred. They asked $7.50 for the fox. Mr. Nesbit refused and procured a possessory warrant. Armed with the warrant, Sheriff Smith "arrested" the fox. The hunters told the sheriff that a fox
is a sick creature. Sheriff Smith said:
"If he gets away from me I'll pay you
$7.50 myself."The case was set for trial before Justice O. C. Shirley, both sides prepared. Sheriff Smith announced to the court that the prisoner had escaped. Justice Shirley then ruled that he would have to dismiss the case on account of the absence of the principal party.Sheriff Smith went out with the declaration that he would have Mr.
Fox. He met an unexpected obstacle. Game Warden Tensley Upshaw advised him it was the closed season
for foxes and he better not violate the law."I can chase a prisoner any time
he gets out," the sheriff told his fellow officer, with vigor.But Mr. Fox is still at large, and Sheriff Smith came across with the

according to an announcement made here tonight by Dr. W. D. Martin, government veterinarian stationed here,
when he returned following a hurried investigation.Department of justice headquarters in Atlanta has been notified of the dynamiting and, with county officials,
a rigid investigation will be made.
No details of discoveries made by Dr. Martin other than announcement that the vats had been blasted were made public. The veterinarian is distressing tick eradication work in this district and recently moved his headquarters to Americus.He was on an inspection trip of the lower counties of the district when he learned of the dynamiting. He declared that if the dynamiters were apprehended the cases would be vigorously prosecuted.COURT DECISION AIDS
CATTLE-DIPPING WORK.Constitutionality of the state law
empowering boards of county commissioners to use county funds for carrying on cattle dipping work for the eradication of the cattle tick was upheld by the supreme court in a decision handed down Friday. The court ruled that the constitutional provision prohibiting the delegation by the legislature to any county the right to levy taxes for any purpose except those specified in article 7, of the constitution, is not offended by an act authorizing the appropriation of funds for carrying on and aiding work of eradicating the cattle tick.
The case was brought in Berrien county by B. F. Avera and others, who sought an injunction restraining the county commissioners from using county funds for this purpose. The judge in the lower court had declined to grant
the injunction, and his action was upheld by the supreme court in its decision.Out of the 372 members put in nona-

Big Vote Expected.The citizens of Decatur will go to the polls today to elect two members of the board of commissioners. The administration candidates are R. E.
White, re-election candidate, and Mrs. James A. Campbell, who if elected, will be the first woman to sit on the commission or for that matter the first woman to hold any municipal office in Decatur. The opposing candidates are Homer George, candidate for re-election, and John A. Campbell.
The three members of the commission who do not retire are C. Eugene Allen, W. J. Dabney and Guy Webb, who published a brochure Wednesday upholding the candidacy of Mr. White and Mrs. Campbell, supporting the commission form of government and discussing the benefits which have been reaped during a year's trial of this form of government."We have had only ten months to interpret and inaugurate the system

have gone far enough to assure you

When Arms Parley Ends.Washington, November 18.—(Spe-

retary of state, will resign his post
at the conclusion of the conference on the limitation of armament, to become ambassador to Belgium.Although officials at the department refused to comment either in confirmation or denial of this news, it was learned tonight on high authority that Undersecretary Fletcher
will assume his new post at Brussels as soon as the deliberations of the present Washington conference
have been concluded.It has been known for some time that Mr. Fletcher has not found the job of undersecretary of state exactly to his liking. As a diplomat of several years' experience, Mr. Fletcher's most recent post was that of ambassador to Mexico under the Wilson administration—the undersec-retary's natural inclination has been for a diplomatic post in the field, where his long contact with international affairs would enable him to function
in a manner consonant with his broad experience, rather than to be subject to the necessary restrictions imposed by inevitable routine of an assistant secretary of state.Although the relations between Secretary of State Hughes and Undersecretary Fletcher are known to have been exceptionally cordial, Mr. Fletcher is known to have felt his opportunities for service abroad would offer somewhat larger inducements than those of his present post.Nominate Woman

woman has been nominated for mem-

honorary going to Mrs. Samuel Inman.
Miss Laura Smith, as chairman of the women's department of the chamber, is an ex-officio member of the board, but so far no woman has been elected by ballot to the board.Announcement of the sixteen members nominated for directors of the chamber for the years 1922-23 was made Friday at noon.Eight of the sixteen will be chosen by mail vote on November 23. Eight members of the board of sixteen are chosen each year. The person receiving the ninth highest ballot will serve during 1922, filling a vacancy
recently made.Immediately following the election of the new members, the board will meet and elect officers to serve during

Washington, November 18.—
Prompt action by the administrative branch of the government on the offer of Henry Ford with respect to the war-built nitrate and powers projects
at Muscle Shoals, Ala., was indicated
tonight after a preliminary conference between the Detroit manufacturer and government officials.Mr. Ford, who was called to Washington by Secretary Weeks to furnish first-hand detailed information as to offer, conferred about an hour with Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Major General Lansing H. Beach,
chief of army engineers. Secretary Weeks was to have met with the Detroit manufacturer but was prevented
by an attack of indigestion which confined him to his home the entire day.
In informing Secretary Hoover that he would be unable to attend the conference he asked that the discussions
today be of a preliminary nature only.
Additional meetings are to be held tomorrow, provided Mr. Weeks can be present.

To Make Report.

The action of the administrative officers of the government will be embodied in a report to congress which must finally pass on any matter involving turning over the plants to private interests. Government officials after today's conference said they saw no reason why the report could not be made within a few days but gave no indication as to the prespec-tative report.Prior to the conference, however,
it was stated definitely that Mr.
Weeks had in his own mind reached no decision on the offer and would keep his mind open until the conferences with Mr. Ford were concluded.Secretary Hoover as well as Mr.
Ford and engineers who sat with him
in the conference declined to comment.

New York, November 18.—Enphatic assurance that the iron and steel manufacturers of the United States are solidly aligned with delegates to the arms conference in their efforts to end wars, was given by Charles M.
Schwab in an address tonight at a dinner of the American Iron and Steel institute in honor of Marshal Foch.After paying high tribute to the marshal and telling him that in the language of the greatest of poets, he had been "grappled to our souls with hoops of steel," Mr. Schwab, who is head of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, said:
"I would like to take advantage of this occasion to say something which has long been upon my heart, and which at this significant moment, it is clearly my duty to say. It was stated at some of the sessions of the recent league of nations meeting in Geneva,
it has often been carelessly suggested in the press, that the flame of war is in Greek measure kept alive by those interested in the private building of strong against the republican administration, accentuated by a growing insurgency in the majority ranks in congress, to give democrats substantial hope of capturing a majority control
in next year's congressional elections,
as the stinging, almost unprecedented
rebuff given President Harding and his legislative spokesmen late yesterday in the final vote on the surtax rate in the house."It was a bolt of party solidarity, in the face of a rousing personal appeal
from the executive, that illustrated
more forcefully than any incident that has occurred in party circles in a generation that the Old Guard, reactionary leadership in congress is utterly and ignominiously unable to hold the progressive line, whip them, cajole
them, coerce or attempt to intimidate them as they may, and the reason is the overwhelming volume of mail that is pouring in from the constituents
of western republican members demanding that this administration break loose from the octopus grip of the eastern money interests, and threatening to destroy the incumbents
in the approaching elections.

Story of Ball.

The story of the incidents leading to the bolt of nearly 100 republican house members is an interesting one.
The house had originally voted a 32
per cent surtax on incomes of $200-000 and more, when the revenue bill was first before that body, the republicans being held in line then by Montgomery, Fordney and other administration leaders.The democrats, taking the position that extreme wealth should bear the heavier burdens of taxation, in order that the multitudes of the poor might be correspondingly relieved, voted solidly against it.When the bill reached the senate,
which is also republican controlled, the voice of the masses throughout the country began to be heard, and the result was a solid vote against it.

Behind Efforts.

"Nothing could contribute more to the ultimate and permanent prosperity and happiness of the world," he said, "than the conclusion of agreements between the great nations of the world which would eliminate war and the causes of war. And so, let us say to the men gathered at Washington, let it go out from this gathering of men of the steel and iron industry, that we are solidly behind every effort they can make which will hasten the coming of the time when war shall be no more.""If disarmament inflicts a money loss upon us, the American iron and steel industry will stand by it."

White Says It's Like Ad Club Convention
Joyously Blend at ParleyBY WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE.
(Copyright, 1921, for The Constitution.)Washington, November 18.—It is hard to tell whether this is the world
convention of the sons of Alphonse
and Gaston or a meeting of the International Ad club, politeness and propaganda are so gracefully blended. Says China: "We want our rights restored." And whizz, bang, as though China had rubbed the magic ring,
come the Japanese with a bag of lost Chinese rights and toss them at China's feet, declaring, grandly: "Will there be anything else this morning?" And when the Japs disappear, in sails France with a bag of lost
and putting it at China's feet, exclaim: "Permit us, as a slight token of affection and esteem to present
these trophies of the chase which finds your conscience." At which John Bull waltzes up to China with tears
in his eyes, crying: "Before you,
my dear Gaston, I tried to do this 18 years ago." And he lays down a sack of diamonds. As soon as the Americans come across with the permanent council for the adjudication
of the disputes arising from the disarmament pact, China's cup will be brimming.

Today Great Britain has been

handing out dripping, blood-raw chunks of propaganda. Great Britain has been moaning through several official voices about the wickedness of the submarine. The abolition of that device of the devil seems to be the British mission of sweetness and light. No one can object to Great Britain's antipathy to the submarine.
In the war she was unable to handle the German subs as well as a major sea power should have handled
them. And being an insular country with Dominions separated from the parent island by vast stretches of ocean, it is obvious that Great Britain's self-interest lies in the abolition of the submarine. Our self-interest with a long coast line naked to our enemies requires submarines for a defensive war. With submarines we might easily cut down an attacking
fleet, and ward off vast destruction
to our coast cities.

Interests Differ.

The self-interests of the two great countries differ. But what is giving the American reporters foot pains is that Great Britain is putting the abolition of the submarines upon high moral grounds. Probably the submarine should be abolished. It is a barbarous weapon, and possibly our naval experts may decide that oneREPUBLICAN BOLT

Little Rock, Ark., November 18.—Twelve persons were killed, thirty or more injured and considerable property damage done by two cyclones which struck in widely separated parts of this state last night. One storm near Meza, in the extreme western part of the state, wiped out a family of eight persons.

Another storm, striking a lumber camp near Arkadelphia, killed one person, injured 24 others and then skipped north to a point near Malvern, where three more persons were killed and a number injured.

Democrat Split Seen as Senate Votes Anti-Beer

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN, Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, November 18.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Beer with a kick for the lame and the sick went a glimmering today when the senate by a vote of 56 to 22 outlawed malt liquors for medicinal purposes, despite the fact that thousands of drug saloons have been set up all over the country under the recent ruling of the treasury department. But the conference report to the anti-beer bill split the democratic side almost in half, the remarkable fact being that of the ten democrats voting against the report, the majority of them are from the south. Watson of Georgia, Underwood of Alabama, Broussard and Ransdell of Louisiana,

Stanley of Kentucky and Shields of Tennessee.

The bill, which the president will sign immediately will set aside the ruling by Former Attorney General Palmer, who advised the prohibition enforcement officials that there was nothing in the Volstead act to prohibit the prescription of beer and light wines for medicinal purposes.

The anti-beer legislation has been before congress since last June. The house accepted the compromise reached by the conferees in August, but there followed a bitter controversy in the senate, waged by a small but determined group, who contended the bill struck a fatal blow at personal rights because it permitted search and seizure without warrants. The first draft of the measure authorized the search of private homes without warrants, but this feature was eliminated in conference.

Senator Watson of Georgia was an active factor in having this feature eliminated, having made a vigorous fight against the search and seizure provision.

NEW WORK RULES FOR SHOP CRAFTS ALMOST READY

Chicago, November 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The United States railroad board announced tonight that new working rules for the six shop crafts probably will be completed and issued in time to become effective December 1.

Issuance of the rules, under a recent decision of board, paves the way for consideration of requests which may be filed by the roads for revision of the shop craft wage schedules.

The new shop craft rules will affect approximately 500,000 men on all class one railroads in the country. Only 94 railroads are directly concerned in the present case, the others not having their submissions in proper shape when the case was taken up, but board members anticipate that all the class one railroads will probably carry out the decision without further hearings.

Photographs are now being used to teach parrots to talk.

GERMAN REPARATIONS DISTURB ARMS PARLEY

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN,
Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, November 18.—(By Constitution Bure.)—Diplomats and statesmen are at work today preparing the German embassy for occupancy.

Baron Edmund von Thiermann, who is on his way here to get the embassy ready, is unknown here, but he has been in the diplomatic service for some years and at one time he served his government at Budapest.

Many attempts, directly and indirectly, are being made to create a situation where the economic problems of Europe may creep into the arms parley. They involve German reparations payments, the proposed Fordney tariff and other questions.

The American delegation has not withdrawn from its position that inclusion of financial and economic questions would defeat the successful solution of other problems involved, and if German reparations are to be considered, the opening apparently must come when the conference reaches the discussion of the limitation of the armaments in France and Italy.

There are European as well as American experts here who think that the problems of reparations payments are at the foundation of the economic troubles of Europe, and that until a decision is reached which will clear up the situation, there can be little hope of a permanent improvement of economic conditions and international exchange. One view expressed today was that Germany would never make full payment of the reparations demands, preferring to face financial collapse, which would involve France and other European nations, if that

Work Is Stopped On Four Warships By Great Britain

Washington, November 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—Action of the British government, announced from London today, in ordering work stopped on the four capital ships of the Hood type, the only capital shipbuilding program on which the British have been engaged since the armistice, came as no surprise here. There was much doubt, even before the conference on limitation of armaments was called by President Harding, that the British would complete these ships. Their status as to construction on most American tabulations has been carried as "doubtful."

In any case, deliberations of the technical commission headed by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt and including highest naval officers of the five powers represented in the conference, appear to have reached a point where the capital ships ratio may be considered settled, so far as the British and American fleets are concerned. The American proposal that Great Britain retain eighteen battleships seems to have been accepted by the experts which implies final acceptance by the conference itself of that element of the program. The British admiralty order stopping work on the four new ships is only an added straw to show which way the wind is blowing.

FOCH BEGINS VISIT TO NEW YORK CITY

New York, November 18.—It was a tired marshal of France who stole away to rest tonight, long before New York's bedtime, terminating the first hectic day of a three-day visit to America's largest city.

There was talk of canceling, or, at least, curtailing, the great projected swing through the far west, but Foch would not hear to it. For, arduous as his tour has been, the marshal avers he has enjoyed every minute of it, and is eager to "see more of this wonderful country."

Fatigued, though he may have been, the marshal gave no evidences of it to the crowds that turned out to do him honor. He was almost jaunty at the Pennsylvania terminal when he saluted his first cheering crowd at 9 o'clock this morning. He was as jaunty tonight when he bade the last admirers goodnight at the home of the Lancelotti, where he is residing during his stay here.

The high spot in his day was his reception by New York school children in the great armory, as Foch entered the armory with their cheers. From the armory, Marshal Foch went to the statue of Jean d'Arc on Riverside drive, then on to Grant's tomb.

A battery on the New York university campus barked a salute of nineteen guns as he arrived to present the university on behalf of the French government, a cannon captured in the war. After the presentation Foch addressed a cap and gown and marched in a procession of academic men to the auditorium of the Hall of Fame, where the degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon him by Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown.

He returned to the Kountze home for a brief rest before going on to the dinner of the American Iron and Steel Institute, which ended the first day's program. He insisted on sacrificing a part of his rest hour, however, to make an unscheduled stop at the convent and academy of the Sacred Heart.

Dramatic Speech For State Opens Arbuckle Trial

Jury Complete, Testimony Begins at Trial of Comedian for Manslaughter.

San Francisco, November 18.—Instead of the familiar "camera," a ballist said, "order in the court," and the drama in which Roscoe Arbuckle is to play the leading role, after a career in pie adorned comedies, was under way.

The jury had finally been selected, after nearly five days of tiresome questioning. They had been sworn in and had taken their places in the jury box—five women and seven men, with another man as an alternate juror in case any of the twelve is incapacitated during what is expected to be a long trial.

As the first scene, a dark, dynamic man took the floor. He addressed the jury in a veritable passion of denunciation of the big comedian. "If 'Fatty' was playing a part, he did it well. But it could not have been that he had 'play acting' in his mind."

As the man on the floor—Leo Friedman, assistant district attorney, flayed him, the big fellow kept his eyes on the floor. He examined his shoes, he traced patterns in the carpet. He looked at his hands, knotted together, unnoted, and clasped again. Friedman described the dead girl, for whose end the comedian is held on a manslaughter charge—Virginia Rappe, in a picture of her beauty, her career, her spirit, her joy at being invited to a party by the comedian Arbuckle and his friends.

At the close of the first day's proceedings, the state's version of the tragic end of that party—how "Fatty" was alleged to have followed Virginia into his bedroom, dressed in pajamas.

A woman's cry. "The defendant remained in this closed and locked room for a period of not less than half an hour and not more than one hour," said Friedman. "From that room while he and she were there alone came a woman's voice—a cry 'oh, no, my God, no!' And another cry, 'aw, shut up!'"

That man was Roscoe Arbuckle, the defendant in this action and in the sister republic. For years he has taken a vital part in promoting trade relations between the United States and Latin-American countries.

Dr. King has also been business manager of the Atlanta Music Festival association in the direction of Atlanta's annual week of Metropolitan grand opera and much credit is due him for the success of the opera seasons here.

An announcement was also made by G. F. Willis, president of the International Proprietaries, Inc., that the extension of the company's business into Mexico is only the first step towards a rapid extension of the company's business into South America and several European countries.

"Our determination to broaden our foreign field," said Mr. Willis, "is due to the fact that we have found from experience that it is just as easy to market our products in foreign countries as in the United States. In Dr. King we believe we have secured the ideal man to look after our interests in Mexico and other Latin-American countries."

Washington, November 18.—Declaration by Senator Pomerene, democrat, Ohio, that he would resign if evidence such as that submitted against Senator Newberry were adduced against him, marked further consideration by the senate today of Henry Ford's contest of Mr. Newberry's seat as senator from Michigan.

"If I stood here with such evidence against me, I would resign from the senate at once," said Mr. Pomerene. Asked by Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, what action would he have taken if he had violated no laws, the Ohio senator replied:

"If I were innocent, I'd fight the battle of my life for my rights; I would not remain silent."

Mr. Pomerene charged that majority members of the senate elections committee presided over by Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri, had blocked all efforts to gather pertinent testimony in its investigation of the case. He asserted that if the committee had wished to be "fair" it would have subpoenaed Mr. Newberry and would also have attempted to get facts about Newberry funds in the campaign by calling witnesses of the banks which had Newberry accounts.

ROBERT WHITTEN, OTIS AND SUTTON MAKE ADDRESSES

Robert H. Whitten, city planning expert; R. R. Otis, member of the city planning commission, and Superintendent of Schools W. A. Sutton were principal speakers Friday night at a joint meeting of the south side civic clubs held at the Georgia Avenue school. The attendance filled the large auditorium.

Mr. Whitten spoke on the advantages of city planning and illustrated his talk with stereoscopic slides. Mr. Otis outlined the objects and efforts of the planning commission. Superintendent Sutton dwelt on the educational phases of planning and the aid the commission can render in the school construction program to be launched with proceeds of the bond issue.

J. E. Cumbee, chairman of the Second Ward Citizens' club, presided and introduced the speakers.

Typewriters Shimmy To Syncopated Music at Georgia

Athens, Ga., November 18.—(Special.)—Music makes the world go round, they say. At any rate, it's making students in typewriting at the University of Georgia hum forward with their work as they never have before.

The latest innovation in this department of the university is a phonograph with all the late snappy, jazzy records which are used in teaching the students to grind out copy on the machines.

steel industry will accept it willingly and gladly. We will do so in a spirit of mere idealism and self-sacrifice, but in a belief that the greatest permanent material prosperity would be brought about by the concentration of the energies of mankind upon constructive activities; upon means for well-being and not for the destruction of civilization."

"We in this country," he continued, "are in the midst of a great business depression, a depression which is affecting the lives of millions of people as acutely as any other industry in the country. To escape from this slough of despond, the various factors of the steel business must consider the interests of the whole rather than to meet their selfish ends."

It also says that the government had met and paid all expenses incurred by the administration, has paid $7,000 of the $17,000 debt left by the preceding government, and will pay the $12,500 debt which was left by the preceding government as a sinking fund and interest on the new school and water bond issue of $150,000. The brochure also refers to a statement by C. J. Metz, president of the Audit company of the South, which says that "the last audit of the town of Decatur was in the middle of the year, and shows the financial affairs of the town to have been properly handled in every sense. The town is going ahead and living within its appropriations."

Mass Meeting Held.

A final mass meeting was held Friday night in the interest of Homer George, candidate for re-election, and John A. Campbell at the DeKalb county courthouse, a large number of citizens being present.

One of the features was the address made by Robert C. W. Ramspeck, former chief of the fire department, in which he assailed the conduct of this department at present and stated that there was much room for improvement. He dealt with the controversy which resulted in a shakeup of the force and the election of a new chief, and added that an investigation of the department had been requested by a large insurance company.

L. J. Steele, former mayor, discussed the policies of the majority element of the commission and appealed for the endorsement of Messrs. George and Campbell in order, he said, that the city manager plan might be given a fair opportunity to prove its value. He said that he believed this could be done only through a reorganization of the commission.

Addresses were made by both candidates and great interest was shown in the election and stated that women of Decatur will have an important part to play in the election and may decide the issue.

Miss May Martin Tells How Cuticura Healed Eczema

"Eczema broke out in pimples on my face, arms and neck. The pimples were so thick that I could not put the point of a pin down without touching them, and itched and burned so that I lost about three hours' sleep each night."

"I tried different remedies which failed to cure it. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they afforded relief in a few days. I purchased more, and after using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for about four weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss May Martin, Williamsburg, West Virginia.

COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE COMPANY, NEW YORK

mittee, agreed with officials of the packing house that a wage reduction is necessary and fixed its amount. The cut is effective November 28.

This is the first time in the history of the industry that a wage reduction has been arrived at in such a manner.

Tonight officials of Swift & Co. announced that after an all-day conference the representatives of the Chicago assembly of employees had voted that a readjustment of wage was necessary, and extended a vote of confidence in the management and had voted to leave the wage readjustment to the discretion of the management.

Similar Cuts.

Reductions for various classes of employees of the Chicago assembly practically corresponding to those fixed by the employees of Armour & Co. and effective on the same date, November 28, were then announced by company officials who said they expected the other sixteen assemblies of employees to take similar action.

Employees of Wilson & Co. and the Cudahy Packing company, who are holding plant conferences, are expected to accept similar reductions, and Morris & Co. has announced that it will follow the example of the others. All of the big five except Morris & Co. last spring inaugurated the "plant congress" system of employees' participation in the management of the industry.

The agreement between Armour & Co. and its employees followed a two-day conference. Twenty-four employees, representative of the plant councils in nine cities, met with an equal number of company officials. The books were opened and the financial situation of the company explained. The question was put to a vote and the following reductions, effective in all plants except that at Fort Worth, Texas, adopted:

Reduction Rates.
For piece workers, 8 per cent; unskilled labor, getting 45 cents an hour or less, 7 1/2 cents; semi-skilled labor getting 45 and 50 cents an hour, 3 cents. A minimum wage of 25 cents an hour for adult female labor is provided.

These reductions apply to plants in Chicago, St. Paul, Sioux City, Omaha, St. Joseph, Kansas City, St. Louis and Denver.

The reductions at Fort Worth, where wages are gauged by local labor conditions, are:

Unskilled labor receiving less than 42 1/2 cents an hour, 7 1/2 cents. Semi-skilled labor, receiving from 42 1/2 to 47 1/2 cents an hour, 5 cents.

Skilled labor, receiving more than 43 1/2 cents an hour, 3 cents.

125,000 Affected.
When the reductions are applied to the plants of the other members of the big five 125,000 men and women will be affected. In the final result, a far larger number will be directly concerned, as wages in several hundred smaller packing houses are based on the big five scales.

No change is made in working conditions or the forty-hour-week guarantee.

Today's action, officials said, marked a new departure in American industry. While the "plant congress" idea has been tried with varying success in other lines, the packing houses were the first national industry to attempt this method of employee representation in the management.

Told Necessity.
Ten days ago the companies announced in a statement to their employees that a wage reduction would be necessary and outlined their reasons for requesting the cut. Today's action was the result.

Officials of the company say they suggested no figure for the proposed reduction. The employees' representatives called for the books and from the company's financial showing figured out the reduction which was adopted.

The action, it emphasized, was purely voluntary on the part of the employees' committee, the company representatives agreeing to the cut proposed by the workers.

The final test of the plan will come, however, officials say, when it is seen whether or not the body of employees accept the decision of their chosen representatives.

The big five plants have always been known as "open shop" industries. Packing officials say the union membership is largely confined to the smaller plants and that any strike call would not affect them seriously.

PUBLICITY TALKS AT FARM MEETING

Discussion of the best methods of placing the purposes and attainments of the American Farm Bureau Federation before the public, featured the opening conference Friday in the Piedmont hotel. S. R. Guard, main director of publicity, of Chicago, gave a talk in which he presented a general survey of the work of the federation, and suggested several matters for discussion at subsequent meetings. An address was also made by L. D. Reid, of Washington, D. C., assistant director of publicity.

The opening meeting of the farmers' national fruit marketing committee of twenty-one, appointed by the American Farm Bureau Federation to work out a national plan of co-operation in fruit marketing, will be held Saturday. W. B. Hunter, of Atlanta, president of the Georgia Fruit Growers' exchange, is a member of this committee. A feature of the Saturday sessions will be a meeting of the executive committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation, reviewing the work accomplished during the past year.

It is announced that not only has the farmers' organization completed its program of legislation, but it has advocated seven bills calculated to be of great benefit to farm interests, and which it is believed will be passed by congress.

The entire delegation of women attending the convention will at noon Tuesday be guests at a luncheon to be given at the Piedmont hotel by Mrs. M. A. Judd, of Duluth, former secretary of the Georgia Farm Bureau federation, and chairman of the department of education of the Georgia farm bureau. Mrs. Judd arrived Thursday.

College Professors Coming.
Athens, Ga., November 18.—Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture, and Secretary Henry C. Wallace, of the United States department of agriculture, will be the speakers at the opening session of the farm bureau conference which convenes in Atlanta Monday.

It was announced at the State College of Agriculture Friday that more than 250 of the faculty members of that institution will be in Atlanta Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, attending the various sessions of the American farm bureau conference.

Wallace Reid finds his plunge at his Hollywood home a great experience since he has been doing intensive training for "The Champion," his newest Paramount picture directed by Philip E. Rosen. SENATE CONFIRMS ROSE NOMINATION

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.
Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel.
Washington, November 18.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—The senate this afternoon confirmed the nomination of J. T. Rose as collector of internal revenue for Georgia.

J. T. ROSE.

Mr. Rose was reported out of the city Friday afternoon, and could not be reached for a statement as to when he will enter office, but it is presumed that he will take the oath just as soon as his commission arrives from Washington. Collector Blalock submitted his resignation several weeks ago, effective upon the appointment of a successor.

Mr. Rose's extensive business career well qualifies him for the federal office. At present he is vice president of the J. B. McCrary Engineering corporation. He was formerly vice president of the Atlantic Steel company.

His nomination was recommended by J. L. Phillips, head of the new republican organization in Georgia. Mr. Blalock has indicated that he will resume his practice of law.

Bitter Feeling Is Said to Have Existed Between Two Augusta Men for Years.

Augusta, Ga., November 18.—(Special.)—John Larsen, aged 35, was shot and killed here this afternoon by Benjamin Cook, aged 40.

Larsen had married Cook's sister, and the homicide occurred in Cook's father's home.

The quarrel which preceded the killing grew out of family troubles. There had been bitter feeling, it is stated, between the men ever since Larsen's marriage years ago.

Cook is in custody and asserts that he shot in self-defense.

$100,000 IS GIVEN STATE UNIVERSITY

Athens, Ga., November 18.—(Special.)—The University of Georgia has been notified that a gift of $100,000 has been awarded the institution by the general education board of New York, according to an announcement Friday by Chancellor David C. Barrow.

At a meeting of the board in New York Thursday, it was decided to make the gift to the University of Georgia, and Chancellor Barrow was notified early Friday.

This gift to the university follows a visit to the New York office of the board early in the fall by Harry Hodgson, general chairman of the war memorial organization, and Dr. R. P. Brooks, alumni secretary of the university, when they told the board of the needs of the university.

After their return, Dr. Wallace Butterick, president of the board, and Trevor Arnett, general secretary, made a visit to Athens, inspecting the university. They were highly pleased with the work done, and impressed with the needs of the institution.

The gift of $100,000 from the general education board brings the total of the war memorial fund to $1,148,000, or, in other words, almost $150,000 past the goal of a million dollars.

Payments Being Made.
Athens, Ga., November 18.—(Special.)—The University of Georgia war memorial committee received a check from Charles S. Hardee of Savannah, the oldest living alumnus of the university, paying the first installment on his subscription of $315 to the million dollar memorial fund. Mr. Hardee is of the class of 1848 and is one of the most loyal of the Georgia alumnus.

Other checks are being received from subscribers all over Georgia, it was announced.

RED CROSS NEEDS ADDITIONAL FUNDS

Emergency Calls for Services to Ex-Service Men Render Increase in Memberships Imperative.

Emergency calls upon the Red Cross for additional service absolutely necessary if Patton and DeKalb counties are to fulfill their obligations to their ex-service men, render it imperative that the Atlanta chapter of the Red Cross have more funds through membership than have yet been reported in the Red Cross roll call, according to C. B. Bidwell, chairman.

Announcement has been made that the "clean-up squad" sent out by the veterans' bureau, with the cooperation of the American Legion and the American Red Cross, will visit Atlanta in December. The purpose is to clean up the claims of all ex-service men against the government, to provide hospital care for those in need of it, to settle insurance and other claims. It has been the function and the obligation of the Red Cross to act as intermediary between the men and the government wherever necessary, to cut the red tape which hampers the settlement of claims in many instances and to follow up cases where service is needed after the clean-up squad has gone.

This emergency will be expensive, and in addition to the already full program of the Red Cross for the coming year in Atlanta will require additional funds.

Last year only 29,000 of Atlanta's 250,000 people answered the appeal of the Red Cross, and the funds at hand as a result were insufficient to meet the demands of the local chapter in its home service work, adding the ex-soldier, his nursing service, his baby program and other phases of its peace-time program.

This year the committee in charge expects Atlantians to equal this mark, if not to surpass it.

"There is no doubt in my mind about Atlanta's response this year," said Mr. Bidwell, "for I anticipate success. But we must have added funds to meet the program and emergencies of the year."

Additional 100 per cent firms that have been reported are: Dobbs & Wey, Adams-Cates company, Southern and Central of Georgia railway, Eugene V. Haynes, Lester Book and Stationery company, Red Cross employees, Trust Company of Georgia, Georgia Adair Realty and Trust company, Daniel & Boehm, National Tube company, John Mangert company, The Flanger company, American Surety company, Southern Nash Motor company, White Hickory Wagon company, Ideal Specialty company, The Texas company, The South Bank, Glenn Photo Stock company, The Calabats company, and the Studebaker corporation.

Phone and Wire Artists Please In 1921 Minstrels

The main auditorium of the Commercial High school, with a seating capacity of 750, was filled Friday night at the first performance of the minstrels of 1921, presented by employees of the main exchange of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company.

The show, under the direction of Houston White, proved a very bright and attractive entertainment and furnished cause for hearty laughter. The music, the acting and the settings showed that great care had been taken in the preparations. The final performance will be given Saturday night.

Including the chorus there were more than 30 persons on the program. The first act was the customary minstrel show scene of black-face comedians, singers, and emcees and the interlocutor, Albert Staton presided. Among those participating in the first act were Miss Roberta Reeves, Hugh Connolly, Frank Morrison, Charles Carter, Miss Fannie Morrison, A. Lamar Ray, Miss Fannie Savarese, Grady Goode and John Paul Locke.

The second act presented a negro schoolroom ruled by the learned Professor Socrates, played by George Bush. A visit from the board of education interrupted the humdrum of schoolroom studies and the pupils terribly embarrassed the professor by their behavior. The board of education was composed of Edward Austin as Dr. Plato Bull Durham, chairman, and Frank Morrison as Nat McWhorter and Charles Carter as Archibald Spivak.

The final scene was a suburban section of Atlanta and the act showed a telephone conversation in which Tobias, an old-time darkey with young ideas; Caroline, his wife, with practical ideas; and Arabella, Tobias' modern sweetheart, with no ideas at all, took part.

CONTRACT IS PLACED FOR COUNTRY CLUB

Dublin, Ga., November 18.—(Special.)—Contracts for the erection of Dublin's Country club were let today to T. C. Fountain, a contractor of this city. The building will be of wood with large verandas, large dining rooms, shower baths, billiard room, cloak rooms and absolutely modern in every detail.

Work will commence within the next two or three days and it is now planned to have the opening "party" on New Year's evening.

The golf course of nine holes, tennis courts and the grounds in general will be ready for use within the next three weeks.

Forest lands are cultivated in Sweden with as much care as is given to farms in America.

LARGE WAYNESBORO CORPORATION FAILS

Waynesboro, Ga., November 18.—(Special.)—The R. C. Neely company of Waynesboro, one of the largest and best known business houses in this section of Georgia, has filed a petition of voluntary bankruptcy and the petition will be heard in Augusta November 26. There are four large stores at Midville, Vidette, Munneryn and Waynesboro involved. The liabilities of the company are $430,000. The assets are $560,000. The real reason for this large concern going into bankruptcy, it was stated, was due to the business conditions of the country as a result of a very small cotton crop, and the very low market price. Mr. Neely was president of the Citizens bank of Waynesboro, but resigned some few days ago and the bankruptcy proceedings of the Neely concern had no had effects on the institution, or any of the other banks of the county.

W. M. Fulcher is the temporary receiver, and will in all probability be appointed as the permanent receiver. He is one of the best known men in the county.

ARMS MEET IS LIKE AD CLUB CONVENTION

way and another we can worry along without it, and defend our coast cities with other devices. We might do that much for Great Britain by way of being neighbors. But we should not be dragged into it by the modern, home and heaven stuff that the British are spreading here today. Some way Great Britain's posing as the outer edge of the pacifist lunatic fringe in abolishing submarines to make a better and nobler world, is a make up that lacks conviction. "Rule Britannia," as the trumpeting angel of peace needs stronger wings.

Now, all this does not mean that the conference is in the slightest danger of a disintegration. As a matter of fact, the winning is well through the first water, and soon will be ready for the bluing. The celebrity with which the work is being done surprises everyone. And the spirit of magnanimous sacrifice which every nation is manifesting is marvellous. Old scores that have made national enemies, and racial differences, are being discussed by the leaders of the delegations here candidly, and many difficulties that would have seemed insurmountable six months ago, are yielding to conciliation. The propaganda which is flooding Washington is stupid, but harmless. The Americans are not even trying to offset it. Every day Secretary Hughes or one of the under-secretaries meets the reporters, and his only reply to the propaganda is an amiable grin. "A certain number of lies," said David Harum, "are good for a dog. They keep him from forgetting that he is a dog." Similarly, a certain amount of propaganda is good for a diplomatist. It keeps him reminded that this is a real world, and not a Sunday school picnic.

Cynical Diplomats. But there is the other side. Diplomacy sometimes takes things cynically that are nobly conceived. For instance, today, as a token of British sincerity, it was said that the English had sent for Lloyd-George and had stopped work in all the British navy yards, probably for the first time in a thousand years. A fine answer to the Hughes challenge, and the only one that Great Britain could make. But the reporters and diplomats, on the lower level, sniff "propaganda" and let it go at that. The American navy yards all are grinding out warships and naval armament to the extent of their capacity. But when we shut up our navy yards, it probably will be for good. Ten years of a naval holiday will put the battleship into the class of the broadsword, the lance and the catapult. And no one should blame the British if they regard our navy activity as "propaganda." But it is not. It is entirely possible for sincere men to differ rather widely as to the best expression of a common aim.

FRENCH MUST KEEP ARMIES, SAYS BRIAND

when parliament was in full course. Several important and delicate questions are being delayed by my absence, particularly the French budget. I have no right to remain away longer because if I did my value would be overpacked with too many difficulties. But I wanted to come, and I am glad I did. I believe the principles of a settlement on Far Eastern questions and naval restriction will have been settled by the time I must leave.

For Peace of Mind.

"These settlements will give us peace; but not only peace in the ordinary sense, but peace of mind, the atmosphere of peace. Neither Great Britain, the United States, Japan or France have imperialistic designs on China. We must, I trust, be able to form an entente on Far Eastern questions so that China shall have territorial integrity and political independence."

Some one mentioned the war debts, whether they would be discussed.

"The debts are not on program laid before us by the American government," replied M. Briand. "Consequently, the debts will not be discussed. We are not asking that they shall be taken the program as it is provided. We shall pay the debt; it was in a sense contracted for our common purposes during the war, and we shall have to have some time, but we shall pay it."

Viviani to Be Chief.

The premier did not indicate when he would return to the Washington conference. During his absence, M. Viviani, a former premier of France, will be head of the French delegation. The French line delayed the sailing of the steamer Paris from November 25 to November 26, for M. Briand's convenience. He asked if it could not delay the sailing still another day, but the steamship company replied that would be impossible. The premier's present plan is to leave Washington next Wednesday evening, spending Thursday in New York, where he has a full program, including receiving a degree from Columbia university and a dinner at the Lotus club.

May Give Summary.

M. Briand probably will give a summary of the results of the conference in his reply to a toast at the dinner. Ambassador Berthelot and some other members of the French foreign of-ice staff will return to France with the premier. M. Berthelot has not had much to do with conference matters although he has taken part in all meetings of the French delegation. He has been continuously occupied with French foreign office business as it is in his hands that all the threads of France's external affairs rest. So much telegraphing has been going on between Paris and Washington that the cable line bearing the official dispatches has been sometimes between 18 and 20 hours behind.

CONGRESS NOT NEEDED FOR NAVAL REDUCTION

the cabinet a statement of the present situation in the conference and the report was discussed at some length.

United States Stands Firm. Evidence was given in high official quarters today that the American delegation to the armament conference regarded the relative strength of the navies as fixed in the American reduction proposal as a fundamental principle the alteration of which might seriously affect the whole negotiations.

Although declining to comment on Japan's request that her relative strength be increased, American officials pointed out that the ratio was a natural result of applying the principle that the present strength of navies should be preserved in any reductions agreement.

Only Alternative.

A reduction based on existing proportionate strengths is regarded by the American government as the only alternative to continuance of competitive building, and the American delegates believe that to upset the present ratio in any material respect would be to open up an argument contrary to the fundamental principle of the whole American plan.

It was asserted with the greatest emphasis that the American delegation stood determinedly behind this proposition, and believed that the public opinion of the world would vindicate their view that competitive building must give way to an agreement for reduction based on existing strength. The United States, it was asserted, had not "allotted or assigned" any ratio of strength to any nation, but simply had let the figure as to present strength automatically become a ratio under the principle pronounced by Secretary Hughes in his opening speech to the conference that regard must be had for the present naval power of the nation.

World Rule Principle.

For any nation to ask now for a change in that ratio or to plead that its national needs required a greater comparative strength than it now possesses, would be to defeat the principle entirely, in the view of the American delegates, and would open the door wide for all the other powers to make like requests. It also was reiterated that the United States government felt certain that the strength of navies as set forth in the American plan was decidedly ample for any defensive purpose. In the case of Japan, some officials regard the figures suggested as unusually liberal.

To Admit Other Nations.

Coincident with the disclosure of the American viewpoint on naval reductions it was revealed today that the administration does not propose to limit the armament agreement, if there is one, to the nations represented in the Washington conference. Whether a treaty or simply an "understanding" would come out of the negotiations administration officials would not predict, but it was said whatever the form of agreement the other interested nations would be asked to participate. There was every indication tonight that all the powers would go into tomorrow's Far Eastern conference fully prepared to express their views on the plan presented as a basis of discussion by China. During the two-day recess the foreign delegations have been in touch with their governments, and although not all may desire to make detailed statements of their views at this stage of the negotiations, there is a general expectation that some progress will be possible.

Wait Developments.

The Japanese in particular indicated that they preferred to have policies developed step by step as the negotiations continue. They were prepared to ask for an interpretation of some of the Chinese "ten points," and seemed specially interested in the proposal for the re-examination of all compacts affecting China. Should China desire to reopen what Japan regards as "closed incidents," the step will be opposed determinedly.

General support of China's aspiration for national development, free from the restrictions that hitherto have surrounded her, was expressed today among the British delegates who declared their government was ready to give up the extra territorial privilege as soon as Chinese courts were sufficiently applying the principle of justice. A similar attitude already had been indicated by France and the United States.

Public Session Monday.

The Chinese delegates themselves will go into tomorrow's meeting with the attitude that having laid down their declaration of rights it is some one else's move. They are preparing for no further statement, but say they will be glad to answer questions and explain their interpretations of their propositions.

A formal call was issued today for the third public session of the conference, which is to be held Monday. Today's Calendar of Social Events

Mrs. Ottley, Hostess.

Mrs. Ernest G. Ottley gave an informal luncheon Friday at her home on Brookhaven drive, in compliment to Mrs. Howard Perry, of Providence, R. I., and Mrs. Frank Cochran, of Albany, Ga., who are the guests of Mrs. L. C. McKinney.

The luncheon table was beautifully appointed and was graced with a silver vase filled with pink carnations. The places of the guests were marked with miniature pink baskets containing pink mints, to the handles of which were fastened the name cards. Covers were laid for eight guests.

Lovely Luncheon For Bride-Elect.

Mrs. Thomas Morgan was hostess at a lovely luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club in honor of Miss Mary Clarke Cohen, whose marriage to Charles Dickinson Orme will be an interesting social event of Thanksgiving.

The luncheon table was beautiful in every appointment, the color motif being pink and white. In the center was placed a mound of pink roses from which extended pink satin ribbons to the places of the guests, which were each marked with hand-made handkerchiefs and a pink rosebud. Three silver vases filled with pink Killarney roses also graced the table at intervals, and silver candlesticks held pink unsharpened tapers. Pink and white napkins were folded in silver, and tiny pink crepe paper baskets holding pink and white bouquets were at the places of the guests. The dairy hand-painted place cards represented brides and little wedding cakes.

Mrs. Morgan was graced in a handsome model of black chiffon velvet, with which she wore a black velvet picture hat.

Miss Cohen's costume was of mid-night blue French serge trimmed with black silk braid. She wore a hat of black velvet.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollins Randolph will be hosts at a dinner party for Miss Cohen and Mr. Orme Tuesday evening.

The invited guests will comprise the members of the bridal party.

For Mrs. Hamer.

Mrs. Samuel Weyman has as her guest, Mrs. Hamer, of Beverly Hills, Pa., who is being entertained at a series of informal social affairs.

Mrs. Linton Hopkins entertained in her honor Friday at luncheon at her home on East Fifteenth street. Invited to meet here were the members of the Friday Morning Reading Club.

Mrs. Samuel Nesbitt Evans will entertain eight friends at luncheon Saturday in honor of Mrs. Hamer.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Bucknell will entertain at dinner Saturday evening in her home.

A lovely compliment to her was the luncheon Thursday at the home of Mrs. Weyman.

Among several others who have entertained for Mrs. Hamer are Mrs. Lee Douglas and Mrs. Hugh Loke.

For Mrs. King.

Mrs. Edwin King, of Kansas City, Mo., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. P. Cain, was honor guest at a bridge-ten at which Mrs. Cain entertained at her home on West Peachtree street.

Assisting the hostess in entertaining were Mrs. Carlton Lee and Miss Alice Cain.

The rooms where the game was played were adorned with quantities of yellow chrysanthemums and richly tinted autumn leaves.

The honor guest was presented with a pair of silk hose, and the top score and consolation prizes were hand-painted candles and a dainty handkerchief.

Elly Ney, Leonine Pianist Talks Buttons and Beethoven

BY LOUISE DOOLY.

The psychology of her audiences, European and American, and the "why" of her programs—these are the kind of things that Elly Ney, Belgian and celebrated pianist, who has a sensation up her sleeve for her Atlanta audience this afternoon, if press accounts from all Europe and America, your audiences listen not only intelligently, but they are absorbed. I know that they are listening with feeling. The atmosphere is surcharged with it. And therefore it is easy to give them of my best. In New York, Chicago, where I gave programs entirely of Beethoven, the audiences, even through a fifty-minute sonata—and that takes endurance of interest indeed—showed an interest that was remarkable.

"Your program here is devoted to Beethoven, Brahms, Chopin and Schubert. Does that mean that the moderns have no interest in you?" was a question put to Mme. Ney.

"No. But the great masters, tried and proven, bring out the best in me. This is my first visit, and I would give you of my best. Then, too, there is such superior value to young people in the hearing of the works of the great masters, and I feel that an artist's first obligation is to them in the forming of their ideals."

Of course, I play the modern music. I have given modern programs of modern French and of modern Russian compositions. The modern Germans have not interest in you? It is a chance that I may appear only once in a city, like to give that city my greatest treasures.

When it is understood that Madame Ney has been in this country only four months, that she had never studied English until she landed here and that this interview was given without the aid of an interpreter, it will be concluded that she adds the gift of the linguist to the genius for music.

State Meeting Is Reported To Atlanta Club Women

The high lights of the silver anniversary celebration of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs were reflected in the meeting of the Atlanta City Federation, held yesterday in Steinway hall, which was called to order by the reports of the convention from delegates who represented organizations within the Atlanta Federation and also from the state and general officers residing in Atlanta who attended.

Mrs. Albert Thornton, Sr., was in the chair, and general federation officers taking part were Mrs. Samuel M. Hume, general federation director for Georgia, and Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, secretary to the general federation.

Mrs. John K. Ortle, Mrs. A. O. Granger, Mrs. Hugh Willet and Miss Rosa Woodberry were outstanding figures in the Georgia federation who spoke.

The hymn written by Miss Nan Stephens for the silver anniversary of the Georgia federation and dedicated to that body, was sung by Mrs. W. O. Chaires, the composer, at two piano, and its moving beauty, its prayerful solemnity, were well presented by the singer.

Report on Council Work.

Mrs. Hume's report was on the Southeastern Council of Federated clubs which met in Savannah on the opening day of the state convention, and she emphasized the importance of the meeting, with the president and vice president of the general federation, and six southeastern state presidents in attendance. She called it a precursor of a general federation meeting in the south, and declared that the southern club women would never fully grasp the force of the state federation until a biennial is brought to this section.

She repeated the pledge of the southeastern council that the club women would pay constantly for the success of the arms conference, and on her motion, a telegram was sent to the state federation at Winter, president of the General Federation, and a member of the advisory board of the U. S. delegation to that arms conference, conveying to Mrs. Winter the assurance of the prayers of the city federation for her divine guidance and that of the conference.

When she touched on Georgia's assertion at the council of her ownership and support of the only school, Tallulah, owned and operated by a state federation and the claim of another states that they were doing similar work, Mrs. Ortle stated for the benefit of the non-club women, that Georgia had positively the only state which does own and operate a school and its student aid foundation is also unique.

For Home and School.

Mrs. A. O. Granger, a pioneer clubwoman, spoke of the unchanging interest since pioneer days and the growing scope of the work of Georgia clubwomen, primarily for the home and education.

Mrs. Lollie Belle Wylie's song to Georgia, for which she wrote words and music was delightfully presented.

Mrs. Alonzo Richardson repeated the report made in Savannah that 90 per cent of the clubs in Georgia are studying citizenship, and the fact was here emphasized that the greatest international conference, perhaps, of all times, the arms conference, now being held in a woman's building, the Continental Congress hall, owned by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

It was voted at this juncture that

28 HENS NOW LAY 27 EGGS A DAY

And This During Cold Winter Weather. Plan Is Simple.

"I had 28 Hens to my 27 eggs a day for 27 days. But they are laying now. I receive as high as 27 eggs a day and never less than 22." Mrs. Jennie Davidson, Yates Center, Kan.

Mrs. Davidson wrote this letter in February. Please her profit on two dozen eggs a day from hens that wouldn't lay. We'll make you the offer we made her:

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more fertile. It is important to get the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

Don Sung can be obtained promptly from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send for a package by mail prepaid. Burrill-Dugger Co., 218 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

audiences with her American was most interesting.

"I am charmed with the Americans," she said. "European audiences will show the results of the war. They are restless, distrustful. They cannot yet concentrate. But here in America, your audiences listen not only intelligently, but they are absorbed. I know that they are listening with feeling. The atmosphere is surcharged with it. And therefore it is easy to give them of my best. a telegram was sent to Woodrow Wilson, which was worded as follows:

"The Atlanta City Federation of Women's Clubs, fifteen thousand strong, sends greeting and joy for your continued improvement in health; rejoices in the tribute you build to the beloved dead, the unknown soldier; and are gratified that the arms conference is recognizing policies advocated by you."

It was signed by Mrs. Albert Thornton, Sr., president, Mrs. H. G. Hastings, secretary, and Mrs. William Percy, chairman resolutions committee.

Miss Rosa Woodberry, state parliamentarian, explained the changes in the constitution effected at the Savannah meeting.

Mrs. Hugh Willet reported on the addition of $1,100 contributed to the clubwomen of Tallulah Falls school at the convention, and invited the clubwomen to make pilgrimages to the institution.

Mrs. A. O. Granger spoke on the value of precedent in organization, defining it as the crystallization of the sentiment of the body through practice, through usage. She said that the law and the unspoken word, accepted as rules of an organization, as of equal importance with its constitution by-laws, and of equal meaning if disregarded.

Women's Work for Red Cross.

Mrs. R. K. Rambo, chairman of the women's division, Red Cross roll call, and she emphasized the importance of the meeting, with the president and vice president of the general federation, and six southeastern state presidents in attendance. She called it a precursor of a general federation meeting in the south, and declared that the southern club women would never fully grasp the force of the state federation until a biennial is brought to this section.

Brief reports from the Savannah meeting were made by Mrs. T. T. Stevens of the Fifth District federation; Mrs. R. M. Strickland of Georgia Child's home; Miss Mamie Berkele, Travelers Aid; Mrs. Sanders, Needle Craft club; Mrs. Helbig, Buckeye Woman's club; Mrs. V. Webb, Rhode Island club; Mrs. Brown, Kirkwood Relief club; Mrs. Kling, Woman's Relief Corps; Mrs. Thornton, Forestry commission; and Mrs. Eric Atkinson, vice president of the City Federation, speaking for the social side of the Savannah convention and the excellent work of the Girl Scouts.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Thornton announced that the treasurer having resigned and a called meeting not being empowered to elect a substitute, she would appoint Mrs. Willis Ragan to the office.

FORD AND HOOVER CONFER ON PLANT

ment on the subjects discussed at today's conference. It was believed by those in close touch with the matter, however, that the cost of construction work on the Wilson dam figured largely in the discussions. Revised estimates by army engineers place cost at between $42,000,000 and $55,000,000 with allowance for improvements in navigation. Mr. Ford in his original offer estimated the cost at $28,000,000, and it was understood that he declined today to change the figure. The difference between the estimates is considered the principal point in dispute.

May Pass Buck.

The report to be presented to congress, it was explained today, would not necessarily contain recommendations either for the acceptance of Mr. Ford's offer or for its rejection, and might merely present the facts allowing final decision to rest with congress. Although Secretary Hoover is participating in the conference, and although Assistant Secretary Houston, of the commerce department, has studied the whole question thoroughly, Secretary Weeks, it was said, would present the report to congress on account of the Muscle Shoals projection being under the jurisdiction of the war department.

Mr. Ford, before going to Secretary Hoover's office for the conference, visited the white house and spent some time with President Harding. He said the call, however, was merely to pay his respects, and the president having become well acquainted last summer when Mr. Harding spent a week-end with the Ford-

Dodges Reporters.

Upon his arrival here early in the day and afterward, Mr. Ford displayed remarkable nimbleness in his efforts to dodge photographers and reporters. After his call on the president a corps of cameramen awaited him at the door of the executive offices, but Mr. Ford gave them the slip by crossing over to the residence and making his exit by a side door.

FARRIOR IS HELD FOR AUTO SMASH

Mobile, Ala., November 18.—Jack Farrior, an automobile salesman, was arrested here tonight on a telegram from the Atlanta, Ga., police charging him with manslaughter, was stated Friday by the office of Sheriff J. I. Lowry. The charge grew out of the death of James Snuts, September 22, 1919.

Following Farrior's conviction, it is stated, an appeal was carried to the state court of appeals, and he said to have left this city while this motion was pending. City Detective H. W. Armstrong left for Mobile Friday afternoon to bring Farrior to Atlanta.

FELT WORN OUT IN EVERY WAY

Tennessee Lady Says She Was Greatly Relieved by Taking Cardui and Recommended It to Daughter.

Fountain City, Tenn.—Mrs. Jett Weaver, wife of a substantial, well-to-do farmer of Route 2, this place, says she has known of Cardui for many years. She gave the following statement of her experience with this well-known, purely vegetable tonic for women:

"I was in a run-down, weakened condition. I was thin, with poor appetite, and in every way worn out, could hardly go; would be miserable, . . . and dizzy."

"Many mornings I sat down in a chair to make my bread, and wonder what my troubles were, and where they would end."

"I had known of Cardui for years, and I began using it as a last resort. I took one bottle and felt so much better. Continued using until I had used three or four bottles."

"The result was marvelous. I felt altogether different—in fact, felt so much relieved, that when my daughter wrote she wasn't well, I wrote her to go to the store and get some Cardui."

"She did, and it certainly benefited her."

"Since then I have tried to scatter the good news that would help others."

"My present health is very good. If you suffer as many women do, and need a tonic, try Cardui. Thousands of women who have suffered have written that Cardui helped them."

Eczema and Tetter Due To Impurities In The Blood

To Get Absolute Relief You Must Clear Your Blood
of Waste Products.

The blood is the means by which all the tissues of the body are directly or indirectly nourished. You will at once realize that unless the blood is pure, some part of the body will become diseased.

Flery skin diseases denote with unfailing certainty a weakened and impure state of the blood.

To correct the basic trouble—waste products—the blood must be purified. Don't clog your blood. Just clean it out. Nature will do the rest. Pure, rich, red blood nourishes the body and fights off disease.

S. S. S., the standard blood purifier and system builder, is the ideal remedy for skin eruptions. The effect of S. S. S. is to rid the system of the waste products which are causing the trouble. For over 50 years S. S. S. has proven to be of unusual merit. Begin taking S. S. S. today and write for 56-page illustrated booklet, "Facts About the Blood"—free.

On the Way to Okefenokee Swamp

The Paramount London studio has nothing on the Lasky studio in Hollywood when it comes to "pull" scenes. A typical east end "pull" has been erected at the west coast plant for Wallace Reid's latest Paramount picture, "The Champion." The English actors on the lot frequently gravitate to the prop shop to revive memories of the good old days.

Camp Billy's Island, Okefenokee Swamp—via Waycross—(Special.)—

A little army composed of 52 Boy Scouts, newspaper and camera men and Scout officials, today invaded the great Okefenokee swamp on special train of the Helard Express company, reaching Billy's island near heart of the swamp, at noon. The trip was made in log cars over the fourteen miles of pile-driven tracks of the Helard company, and Scouts and visitors were delighted at the beautiful wild scenery that was spread before them.

Camp was pitched as soon as the party reached Billy's island, and the afternoon was spent in scouting and observation work in the swamp. Tonight the party gathered about the camp fires and enjoyed recounting its experiences of the day.

Impressed With Beauty.

Every member of the exploring party in splendid health and excellent spirits. Scouts of councils of northern and central Georgia, particularly those of Atlanta, are impressed with the lavish beauty of the great swamp and its wonderful potentialities as a national reservation.

Towering cypress trees, rising like giant fingers from the dark swamp waters, the palms, palmettos, wiregrass, bays and gums, and the gray festoons of Spanish moss, covering a scenery of sufficient beauty to attract the attention of even the most widely traveled, while the quaint Indian lore finds the Scouts and visitors ready listeners.

Constitution's Expedition.

One of the most interesting items to come to light is the fact that sons and daughters of men of this section who were members of The Constitution's famous expedition of 1875, the first to be made on a systematic basis in the swamp, are living on Billy's island and the outskirts.

These have many engrossing details to recount of the first invasion of the great morass by white men.

The Scouts also were much impressed.

The Colorado river country of western Arizona is being used as the locale of "Jim," Thomas H. Ince's latest production. Many interesting scenes were filmed this week near the huge irrigation dunes which store up water for several million acres of rich farm land. John Bowers, Milton Sills and Marguerite de la Motte portray the leading roles. John Griffith Gray is directing.

pressed when the train crossed the northern end of Billy's lake, which is the source of the Svanee.

The train was stopped and the visitors were allowed to thoroughly inspect and take snapshots of the body of water which is the fountainhead of the south's beautiful river of song.

Saturday will be spent by the Boy Scouts in further observation work, and in the afternoon the party will return to Waycross and proceed to Macon, where its members will scatter.

Camp was pitched as soon as the party reached Billy's island, and the afternoon was spent in scouting and observation work in the swamp. Tonight the party gathered about the camp fires and enjoyed recounting its experiences of the day.

REPUBLICAN BOLT ELATES MINORITY

political leaders quickly realized that political expediency imperatively demanded some kind of a camouflage by which the wealth controllers might be fully satisfied, these being the financial pillars of the republican party's structure, and at the same time the masses of republican voters appeased.

Bold Play.

In a political play therefore that was as bold and daring as ever originated by a Mark Hanna the senate leaders agreed to raise the surtax rate in the senate to 50 per cent on incomes of more than $200,000 on the firm belief and understanding with the house administration leaders that the house would instruct its conferees to hold out for the 32 per cent, as carried in the house bill and finally enact the 32 per cent provision.

Accordingly the play was made, and when it was too late for the senate to change it, it began to be realized that the progressives in the house were being lined up behind the maximum rate in deference to the voice of their constituents, thousands of whom for several weeks from all over America have been playing recent republican tactics in the interest of the money

ring without mercy or the sparing of words.

Money Men Alarmed.

The financial backers of the republican party, most of whom are directly effected by the surtax rate, then stormed upon the white house and demanded that the privately made campaign promises, though in direct antithesis to the promises on the stump and in pre-election publicity, should be kept, or "hell would break loose," or words to that effect.

The president seeing the perilous condition of his drifting ship immediately called into conference Lodge, Mondell, Penrose, Fordney and others, and nervously begged for a charted port.

It was then agreed that a compromise of 40 per cent be reached, the house leaders promising that a letter of appeal from the white house to that effect would enable them to hold the house insurgents in line.

Mistake of Year.

The president wrote the letter, the paramount political mistake of the year, and the public now knows the result.

When it came to a vote in the house Thursday afternoon late, after one of the stormiest debates heard in years, and after every strategic point had been exhausted by the administration leaders, 94 republicans, almost all of whom are from the west, kicked over the traces, voted with the democrats, sustained the 50 per cent rate fixed in the senate as a bluff to the common people, and gave the republican party the hardest solar plexus it has received since the Roosevelt bolt in 1912.

The significance of the bolt and the incidents leading to it as related, is that the republicans are split into two irreconcilable factions that will now carry through the regular session and into next year's elections, the big house majority having already proved a serious boomerang.

NEGRO MINISTER
DENIED NEW TRIAL

Lyerly, Ga., November 18.—(Special.)—The state supreme court has affirmed the finding of the superior court of this county in the case of Clarence Patterson, negro minister, who was convicted at an adjourned term of superior court last May of manslaughter, his victim being his younger brother, Tom Patterson. A double-barreled shotgun was used by the elder Patterson on his brother after the two had quarreled. Tom Patterson was shot so seriously that he died while upon the operating table.

BEWARE OF TOO MUCH ASPIRIN

Physicians Say Plain Aspirin
Dangerous to Weak Hearts
and Makes Strong Hearts Weak, and Recommend
Bromo-Aspirin, a New Aspirin
Compound That Does
Not Depress the Heart or Upset the Stomach.

Physicians explain that severe colds, LaGrippe, fevers, headaches, neuralgia and rheumatism are almost invariably attended by a weakness of the heart and require stimulation rather than depression. They maintain that the safety of Bromo-Aspirin should give it preference over all other remedies for headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism, and especially for severe colds and LaGrippe. Many persons, whose lips become pale and blue and who are depressed and made sleepy by plain aspirin find Bromo-Aspirin free from these objectionable qualities, as it is slightly stimulating instead of depressing to the heart.

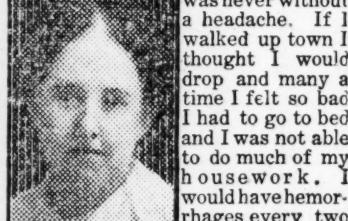

The next time you find it necessary to take aspirin, try a box of Bromo-Aspirin and just see how much quicker you are relieved, how much better you feel and watch especially the absence of any of the bad after-effects you have been getting from plain aspirin. 25c buys a box of fifteen tablets at any good drug store.—(adv.)

Mrs. WILLIMAN TESTIFIES

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Be the Best Medicine for Girls and Women

Hamilton, Ohio.—"I had such awful pains in my back I could hardly stand on my feet and I was never without a headache. If I walked up town I would drop and many a time I felt so bad I had to go to bed and I was not able to do much of my housework. I would have hemorrhages every two weeks and dragging-down pains. I had been feeling badly for three years and had two of the best doctors in the city, but I kept getting worse and only weighed 125 pounds. I saw your advertisement and I took eight boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets, four bottles Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and your Liver Pills and noticed an improvement right away. Now I weigh 188 pounds and feel fine. Everybody tells me how well I look and asks me what I took and I always say, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the best medicine in the world for any sickness to which girls and women are subject." I will always have a good word for your medicine.

POT-SHOPPERS AT WORK.

As was to have been expected, the pot-shoppers are early on the job of maneuvering to prevent the war-craft scrapping and "naval holiday" program, proposed by the United States and endorsed in principle by the other world powers represented at the armaments conference, from being carried out.

Their identity is concealed, of course; for they realize that if the public knew exactly who they are, and that they are the interests that profit by war, their efforts to block progress would fall flat.

They have begun to criticize the Hughes plan, and to flood the country with press propaganda calculated to shoot it full of holes, and run it through with ridicule.

But their scheme will not work! The plan advocated by the American premier, speaking for the government, is too sound, too feasible, too much in line with the public conscience, too intensely humanitarian, for it to fail.

Public sentiment of the world, concerned more in human life and welfare than in profits arising from war, will not let it fail.

It is most gratifying that Great Britain, Japan, France, Italy, in fact, all of the powers represented at the conference, have specifically expressed their approval of the Hughes plan, but the most hopeful sign of all is that perhaps the foremost supporter of the Hughes "motion" is none other than Admiral Kato, Japan's leading naval commander, who, in advocating the plan, is moving to destroy his own profession—that of a sea warrior.

The "patrioters," the war contractors and naval supply interests may do their utmost to defeat the objective of the arms conference, as they already are doing; but there is little probability of the pot-shoppers being able to overcome the preponderant weight of world-wide sentiment, which is in hearty accord with the immediate plan to scrap naval units and the broad purpose of putting an end to war.

"EVERYBODY WORKED."
Songs and stories about old times, old friends and "the old, familiar places" bring sweet remembrances and cheer for many a winter evening when singing fires twinkle welcome from home-windows.

That's the reminiscent time, when the Past speaks to the Present, and we dream old, beautiful dreams.

This is why a writer, in The Greensboro (Ga.) Herald-Journal—one who was home-reared in the old, hard-working days—has written:

"When the writer was a boy, the lad that got a pair of shoes before he was 15 years old was lucky and then the leather was tanned at home and the shoes were made at home. Your clothes were all made at home. We walked five miles to school, and on pine benches made from slabs. Writing was done on a pine slab fastened to the side of the log school house. We had footeap paper for copy books, and wrote with a goose-quill pen. In those days Webster's Blue Back spelling book was the best on earth. Sweetened coffee was served only on Sunday. Everything that was used in those days was made on the farm. Everybody worked, too."

There were hearty, home-loving folks in those old days, and that stock a hardy race was reared, and they didn't think they had a hard time either: They "pulled through" in fine shape!

But the main point in the paragraph quoted is that they raised what they needed at home, and "everybody worked."

Because of that working way

they had, if a wall had been built around their respective communities, and they were shut from the outside world, they would have been sufficient unto themselves: They worked, and kept things going!

Compare that time of strenuous endeavor with easier conditions now, and every day should be one of universal Thanksgiving!

JAIL FOR THE INSANE!
Dr. R. G. Hutchings, a Georgian, who is a leading American alienist and superintendent of the New York state hospital for the insane at Ogdensburg, N. Y., while on a visit in Atlanta a few days ago called attention to the deplorable inadequacy of Georgia's facilities for caring for those of its citizens who are bereft of their reason.

About six years ago, he said, he had made a survey of the sanitarium plant at Milledgeville, and subsequently he conducted a survey of the entire state to ascertain the cause of the rapidly increasing congestion of patients in the state institution.

He found, he said, that, owing to the paucity of doctors practicing in mental diseases, scores of patients developing symptoms of insanity, but not actually insane, are sent to Milledgeville by court order for confinement because there are no physicians to treat them and no intermediate sanitarium in which to place them for treatment intended to correct their symptoms.

Also, that because the state has utterly failed to provide funds to enlarge the Milledgeville institution from time to time to keep pace with the increasing demand, that sanitarium is entirely overcrowded and it is a physical impossibility for the medical staff there to give adequate care and attention to its inmates.

Hence there are many unfortunate revealing symptoms of insanity who might be entirely cured and restored to mental health and vigor, but who are herded to Milledgeville, where, on account of the miserly and inconsiderate fiscal policy of Georgia, they are neglected and their mental disorder becomes fixed and permanent.

Just now the state hospital for the insane is so crowded that new patients can be admitted only as inmates die or are discharged; the result being that persons adjudged insane—though they may be suffering only from symptoms of insanity—are being confined in jails like criminals, where facilities for treating them are entirely lacking.

Dr. Hutchings well says that "the worst place in the world for a person showing symptoms of insanity is confinement in a jail; and it stands to reason that he is right."

To lock an insane or a supposedly insane person in a jail cell, putting him in the category of the common criminal, is not only cruel and inhumane, but it is horrible and revolting!

To inflict legal punishment upon a man afflicted with rheumatism or the asthma, instead of giving him attention in a hospital, would be no more so—not as much so, in fact—for an insane person, a person who has lost his reason or whose reason is slipping away from him, is the most pitiable object in the world.

Georgia could do nothing at this time, without a moment's unnecessary delay, that would more to the credit and general welfare of the state, than to make adequate and ample provision for the care of its citizens who are or may become mentally afflicted, and to take whatever steps may be necessary to provide a sufficient number of experts in mental diseases to treat them.

Conditions as they exist are a disgrace to the state and to our people.

A carload of Scotch whisky, from Florida to Missouri, was labeled "Fisla" and it didn't get through. It might have fared better had it been "Snakes for the Zoo."

The Philadelphia Record does not regret the fact that a German chemist gets the Nobel prize for 1920, since it was not for making mustard gas, or any other lethal agent.

They've been speeding up Marshal Foch, but it seems that the colleges are determined that he'll get there by degrees.

Just From Georgia

In the Sunshine.

Do you think that this beautiful world is "going wrong?"

Get out in the sunshine! Are you singing in grief when the sun is in the light?

Get out in the sunshine! Just music for a minute—let the sun's rays roll—let the light of the heavens lead in on your soul—Get out in the sunshine!

Do you know that the great sun that beams from the blue is the light that God dreamed of? His message to you? Get out in the sunshine!

Get out where the daisies were nodding in the light—In the meadows that dreamed of the dawn through the night—Throw the soul-windows and let the light in!

Get out in the sunshine! "Perseverance."

The practical, up-to-date poet, of the Dalton Citizen, takes the right text and preaches the right sermon in this—

"Then he that hatches chickens Sticks close upon the nest; The cockle-burr sticks tight; And makes its stalks tight; Till he comes with the rabbit To the woods, and the woods, And the constant adviser Is the one who sells the goods."

Home-Town Philosophy.
The "Jim-Jams" column man of The Greensboro Herald-Journal writes—

"An elephant lives 400 years, but you don't own an elephant, so why worry?"

"The latest gown will be trimmed with gold and silver. That will trim friend bubble."

"When a man keeps his nose too close to the grindstone, it soon wears the nose away."

"Cheer up and smile. There are no grouches in heaven, for then it would not be heaven."

A Prosperity Word.
Long lane's turn!

"Don't let it tilt the wagon And spill the apples fine!"

Editor Jim Williams says that his idea of faith, or religion, is that a baldheaded man uses hair tonic.

Ever Moving On.
I.

What of dark and what of bright? In the shadow—in the light—In the wrong and in the right—Time stays never in his flight—Ever moving on!

II.

Grieving hearts or comforted—Ever moving on!

III.

Peace or pain—gloom or gleam—Ever moving on!

Like an ocean-faring steam Where the ships like specters seem: Day by day and dream they dream, Ever moving on!

His Own Architect.
Here's the latest word from "Uncle John," of The Excelsior Springs Standard—

"When you hear a fellow grumble at the hill he has to climb, or later see him crumble in despair—'you wouldn't err in judgment, if you bet your bottom dime that he has built the cross he had to bear. This thing we call humanity, is full of human freaks, with fiftful and imaginative brains. There's very few that are sane, when we only need the ruler that we lost. We'll find it smoother sailin' if we banish every dream and cure the imperfections of our own. The trouble's nearly allers in our little ivory head—and trouble's hard to manage—in a bone!"

Editor Constitution: We have been informed that reports are current in Atlanta to the effect that there is yellow fever in south Florida. The party who told us stated that quite a number of people on route to Florida were being turned back on account of the reports received in Atlanta to that effect.

We are asking that you be kind enough to correct this malicious statement, which is apparently doing great damage, for it is absolutely without foundation. I am confident the state board of health will bear out my statement that there is not a case of yellow fever in Florida today, and there is no epidemic of any kind. The health of the people throughout the state is as good as ever, and that is a record which is hard to equal.

Also, the stories which were sent out about the storm were wildly exaggerated, and today the visitor coming to Tampa could hardly find signs of there having been a storm, with the exception of the two or three breaks in the seawall along the bay front, these are rapidly being repaired.

Such information as the above reports being circulated is malicious, and we know that your valuable publication is anxious to print the truth and to do justice to our section. We will greatly appreciate your giving space to the correct facts in this connection; conditions are normal here; tourists are arriving by hundreds daily, and we are anticipating a wonderful winter season. Your co-operation will be sincerely appreciated in this matter.

Seen and Heard in Washington

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON

Washington, November 18.—(Special.)—The inimitable Lew Dockstader, of monologue fame—and this is no theatrical boast—is discussing the armament party at one of the "Ladies and gentlemen," they are here, the great nations of the world, figuring out ways and means for reducing the armament party.

"Ladies and gentlemen," they are here, the great nations of the world, figuring out ways and means for reducing the armament party. The letters asked what amount of work they could get under way within a period of ninety days after the passage of the act.

"J. P. W.—idea for some shrewd food baron here—J. P. W. meaning just plain wheat, has only one drawback for the householder, it has to be cooked. You can't rush into the pantry, rip open a package, and rustle into the dishes all ready to serve.

"According to the act, which created a fund of $75,000,000 to be apportioned among states taking advantage of ninety days period, each state will be entitled to receive, on the basis of the value of its work, its specified federal allotment. Part of this allotment could be expended in the available January 1. These amounts are, of course, in addition to the allotments received by states under the provisions of former federal acts.

Estimates show that $40,000 will be the average amount per mile expended by the states. When the work is completed, $40,000 more is lost through the slowing down of the employment of workers who fear that high production would throw them out of work. BREAKFAST FOOD FOR HALF A CENT.

The best cereal to eat at breakfast, considered from every point of view—flavor, nutritive or caloric value, aid to digestion and the natural peristaltic movement of the bowel, richness in vitamins, a source of available iron and phosphorus, and a satisfying all round food—costs something less than half a cent for a good size family breakfast. This finest of all breakfast foods is just plain wheat, $1.25 a bushel retail at the feed stores.

Yale and Harvard Hold Interest As Season's Climax Is Reached

Eli Players Hold Slight Edge for First Time in Decade of Famous Meetings.

Associated Press.)—Although the waning of the eastern football season is indicated by the shorter list of contests for tomorrow, the gridiron battles involve no lessening of interest. Surmounting all other games of the day is the Yale-Harvard clash at Cambridge. For the first time in a decade, the Eli eleven will enter the scrimmage an odds-on favorite in the wagering.

With a wealth of material in both line, backfield and reserve strength, the Blue, in certain quarters is definitely expected to defeat the Crimson. The chief basis for this prediction

The defeat of both Princeton and Brown by Yale as compared with the overthrow of Harvard by the Tigers was a surprise to many observers. Between Brown and the Cambridge team last Saturday.

A careful analysis of the football play of the two teams of the conference, however, does not indicate any greater preponderance of strength or playing skill for either. Although Princeton scored against Harvard 10 to 3, it was a narrow forward pass by the Princeton boys in the final few minutes of the game that changed the score from a 3 to 0 lead for Harvard into a victory for Princeton.

While Yale outplayed Princeton most of the time last Saturday, the Tigers came within an ace of tying Princeton's record by scoring a touchdown in the closing minutes of play. A second's respite after his catch of the fifty-yard pass might have meant a touchdown for which the Princeton boys, if they had won the game, would have won the game.

Ran Over Brown. Yale ran rough-shod over Brown early in the season, but when the Princeton team first met Cambridge last Saturday, four times as strong as when it met Yale, according to a statement of the Brown coach, the team was strong enough to be expected to defeat the Brunonians in a last minute rally 9 to 7.

Under these conditions, the result of the game was a question of individuality and teamplaying ability and physical power. It is generally conceded that the Blue has the stronger lineup, first, second and third string players. To offset this superiority Harvard has a more polished football machine with an attack more deceptive than anything the Eli's have faced.

The game will be played on a wet

field and this is expected to militate to some extent against Yale's running and rushing game. The Yale backs will not find too firm an O'Hearne's broken-field sprinters. Jordan and Aldrich will find fast foot work more hazardous than the Yale backs will find it. One man at Yale—Blue depends upon this form of offense is shown by a comparison of the gains made by both Yale and Harvard in rushing while the Crimson gained but 135. In forward passing the tables were reversed, for Harvard made 200 yards in this way while in putting the average distance of kicks was 36 yards by each team.

Rugged Combination.

Individually the Yale players are a more rugged combination, possessing more stamina and endurance than the Harvard players. Several of the Cambridge stars are known as "brittle" players and are

THEATERS MOVIES

Atlanta Theatre—Saturday (matinee Saturday), "Bab," with Helen Weir.

Lyric Theatre (with vaudeville)—See advertising for program.

Loew's Grand Theatre (vaudeville and pictures)—See advertising for program.

Howard Theatre—All week, Thomas Meighan in "Cappy Ricks," and other screen features.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

Today is the last opportunity to witness the remarkable demonstration of the legend of the "The Champion," these days, Miss Wilson, who is just recovering from a bad cold, has temporarily lost the use of her voice. She cannot talk above a whisper, but she does not prevent her registering emotions for the camera.

Melva Talma, the sunshine girl, King and Irwin in "Countdown Divorces," Kirk and Harris company in a comedy playlet of merit and Cornell, Leona and Zippy, the clever canine, in the latter act constitute a bill that is rarely ever equalled on any circuit.

Loew Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Kaluluhi's Hawaiians, the feature act on the vaudeville program at Loew's Grand theatre, are appearing for the last time today and tonight. Other offerings include, Mailey and O'Brien, "Wop" character comedians; Douglas Flint and company, in "Grouch," Gregory, "Isle and Falon, in "Words and Music," and Stanley and Elva, sensational wire artists. There will be four shows today starting at 2:00, 4:00, 7:00 and 9:00 p. m. On the screen the feature brings Gladys Walton as the star in a film version of "Short Skirts," the Saturday Evening Post story.

"Indiscretion."

(Coming to Loew's Grand.)

"Indiscretion," which has three stars depicting the leading roles instead of the usual one. Headed by Florence Reed, Charles Hughes and Lionel Atwill, the cast of "Indiscretion" is said to be the most expensive ever gathered for a single feature. It comes to Loew's Grand theatre on Monday for three days.

Florence Reed scored a triumph on Broadway in "The Miracle." Garth Hughes will be remembered by all for his sensational success as "Sentimental Tommy."

Now Probing Death of Michigan Hunter

Ironwood, Mich., November 18.—An investigation was started today in an effort to clear up the mystery surrounding the death last Friday of Carl Arnestad, of Marquette, deer hunter, near whose body was found a note reading "Somebody shot me."

ARARAT GROTTO MEMBERS ENJOY LAST 1921 PARTY

A large number of members and friends of the Ararat Grotto enjoyed the last open-house party of 1921, which was held Friday evening at headquarters in the Forsyth building.

There were a number of children present and many of the Prophets brought their entire families.

After the entertainment features had been offered, refreshments were served and a dance was held. The Prophets have been asked to bring their candidates to the next ceremonial session of the grotto, which is to be held in the lodge rooms Friday evening, December 9.

Youth Who Killed Parents Sentenced To Prison for Life

Saginaw, Mich., November 18.—Richard Champlain, 22, who last night confessed he had shot and killed his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Champlain, was sentenced to life imprisonment following his plea of guilty in circuit court here this afternoon.

Young Champlain, in his confession, made at the behest of his 19 year old sweetheart, Clara A. Humpert, a school teacher, declared a quarrel with his parents over their objections to his courtship, led to the crime. They objected, he said, because of differences in the education of the young couple. Following the shooting, the youth said, he set fire to the house in an effort to conceal the crime.

Judge Clarence M. Browne, in passing sentence, expressed regret that the Michigan law does not permit capital punishment for high crimes.

STEWART MAKES ADDRESS AT MEET IN NINTH DISTRICT

Gainesville, Ga., November 18.—At a conference of high school officials of the ninth district today, Dr. J. S. Stewart, professor of secondary education of the University of Georgia, made a strong address on "The Goal of Education," and was followed by E. A. Pounds, superintendent of state aided schools, who spoke on the county system of high schools.

The following program, relating to objectives of education, was carried out:

HOW DO YOU FIGURE THE COST OF COAL?

The COST of coal depends upon the amount of heat that you get from it. It is well to see that you get 2,000 POUNDS PER TON, of coal that is FULL OF HEAT. No Dirt, No Slate, No Trash.

That's Campbell Coal.
